OUT ON THE LIMB with George Vierhus

MOST NEWSPAPERS make a determined effort to see that names of people that appear in their columns are correctly spelled. This is one of the prime requisites in the operation of any newspaper.

It is also a matter more or less of self defense on the part of the paper, for no one likes to have his name misspelled and a newspaper generally hears about it when it happens.

Having been exposed to the pitfalls of journalism much longer than we care to report at this time, we have long recognized the importance of getting people straight.

And we have scars to show when we have missed.

We have learned that extreme care must be taken in this department.

Often names of persons are not spelled the way they sound over the phone, and there are a surprisingly number of different ways to spell the same-sounding name.

THERE IS some excuse to get a name wrong when the spelling is slightly different than usual.

But when a name is totally changed, as hapened in last issue, there is no defense.

We just cringe.

In the story on the Planning Commission, Commissioner ED PACK was listed as ED PLATT.

It was a mental lapse on our part. We can't even claim that "Pack" and "Platt" sound alike.

We do know Ed Platt quite well.

But he is not on the Planning Commission.

And he doesn't live in this town.

Sorry, Commissioner ED PACK.

We will try not to let it happen again.

QUITE AN ACHIEVEMENT seems like a prosaic way of describing the record of two members of the West Valley Colt championship baseball team that played in the Colt League world series in Shawnee, Oklahoma.

But playing in a world series is becoming old hat for VAUGHN TAKAHA and MILT MURATA. In the meantime, they also are getting to see quite a bit of the country.

The Colt League classic this year marked the THIRD world series in which these two youngsters have played.

They were members of the Moreland Little League all-stars, world champions in 1962. The year that the world series was played in Williamsport, Pa.

IN 1964, AS members of the world champion Campbell-Moreland Pony League team, the two hustling ballplayers traveled to San Diego.

And this year, Shawnee, Okla.

WV College board calls $21.5 million bond vote

Board of Trustees of West Valley College Thursday night took action to set a $21,500,000 bond issue on the Nov. 8 general election ballot.

It had previously decided that the first complete campus would be in Santa Clara, and in three separate actions Thursday night, the vote was 5-2, with the dissenting members, Bruce F. Allen and Jack Armstrong, preferring the first campus to be in Saratoga.

The three separate actions taken by the Board included, ordering the election and determining the amount of the bond issue; asking the Board of Supervisors to place the matter on the Nov. 8 general election ballot; and a statement of intent covering the use of the funds from the sale of the bonds.

In a related matter, the Board took note of a report from J. Albert Paquette and Associates, San Francisco structural engineers, concerning the status of existing buildings on the present temporary campus, as they relate to the Field Act, regarding earthquake safety.

The report said that the three buildings involved were built prior to 1933, and would require strengthening to meet the requirements of the Field Act.

In a series of motions, the Board authorized the architects to proceed with plans and specifications for rehabilitation of Building F, now used as a locker and shower room, to bring it into compliance with standards for structural safety set by the Field Act in the event of earthquakes; authorized the district architects to come up with specifications for five additional classrooms; authorized the architects to replace the library facilities in the main building and to provide two toilet buildings; authorized continued use of Buildings A, F & G pending replacement or rehabilitation; authorized replacement of building G.

They also authorized calling of plans and specifications for replacing all offices and classrooms in building A, except the auditorium; authorized increasing liability insurance from $5,000,000 to $10,000,000.

The Board also asked Dr. Hall to come in with a report at its Sept. 1 meeting on the availability of other facilities in the various elementary and high school districts.

College area.

Such facilities would be considered for use in lieu of continued use of the buildings in question.

In still another related matter, the Board asked its landlord, Campbell Elementary School District, to go ahead with plans to paint other buildings on the campus and to do roofing work on them. The Campbell District had received a low bid of $6,870 from Harry A. Neal Painting Co., and a low bid of $6,950 for the roofing work from the Lantz Roofing Co.

Two ballplayers become world champs for third time as WV Colts win title

When the West Valley Colt League all-stars (comprised of West Valley high school youths) defeated Paducah, Ky., 4-0 Sunday for the Colt League world series championship, it marked the third time that two of the Colts had been on world championship teams. The world series was played in Shawnee, Okla.

Milt Murata, third baseman, and Vaughn Takaha, shortstop on the Colt all-stars, were members of the 1962 Moreland Little League all-stars, world champions.

Two years later in 1964, the same two ballplayers were on the roster of the Campbell-Moreland Pony League all-stars, which won the world championship in San Diego.

And in 1966 they are world champion Colts.

The Colt world championship was won last Sunday in an extra-inning battle after a pitching duel between Paducah's John Throgmorton and West Valley's Pete Shank for seven innings had held both teams scoreless.

In the eighth inning, Henry Honda of West Valley walked and Milt Murata was safe on an error. Roy Meisner singled to load the bases and Lou Gasper then came through with a double that scored two runs.

Ron Curnutt singled in Meisner and Gasper scored the final run when Troedson grounded out to second base.

Shank only allowed

Expressway plan gets more study

What Campbell's recommendation will be with respect to the proposed Phase II program of the $112 million county expressway project may be determined at the public hearing on Wednesday, September 7, provided the City Council can sift through the multitude of proposals presented.

That was decided at the informal public hearing on Monday night called by the City Council.

The objective of the informal hearing was get the viewpoint to civic groups and interested citizens on the Phase II proposal drafted by the county public works department.

The proposal suggested by the county calls for $2,400,000 to be spent on the San Tomas Expressway through this city for widening to two more lanes; landscaping the route and building an interchange at Hamilton Ave.

CITIES

Campbell, along with all the other cities in the county, has been asked to approve the suggested projects or make other recommendations as to how the county bond money would be spent within the city limits.

This city's recommendation will be made to the County Transportation Committee on which Councilman Bill Smeed serves as Campbell's representative.

Smeed said that he had tentatively promised that this city's recommendation would be submitted by Sept. 14 when the Transportation Committee meets. The deadline can be met, it was pointed out, if a recommendation can be developed as a result of the public hearing on Sept. 7 plus study sessions prior to the hearing.

Discussion from the floor by a disappointing small group of interested citizens at the informal hearing Monday centered on the recommendations of the city staff, supported by both the Planning Commission and the Parks Commission. These called for pedestrian overpasses at Rincon and Latimer avenues, now dead-ended, and a southbound off-ramp at Rincon to relieve the short-stacking lane at Campbell Ave. and Virginia.

SCHOOL OFFICIALS

District school officials, headed by Mrs. Dorothy Sutter, principal at Campbell Elementary; George Ingram, principal of Rosemary and Neal Royer, district superintendent, emphasized the need for pedestrian overpasses for school children. Ingram also cited the heavy traffic on Hamilton, which passes Rosemary, as an additional hazard. He asked if any steps were planned by the city to relieve the situation.

Plans for traffic signals at [illegible]ary are in the city's capital improvement program to be financed by a bond issue, he was informed, but no overpass is contemplated.

C. of C.

Don Kennedy, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce highway committee, suggested that opening both Latimer and Rincon avenues should be explored and efforts should be made to improve the east-west streets as well. The C. of C. endorsed the pedestrian overpasses, if the streets could not be opened, Kennedy said.

He also added that the C. of C. would support the City Council, however, in whatever

Curbside delivery

The City of Campbell, as well as many other municipalities across the land, has officially protested the current policy of the Post Office Department which provides curbside mail delivery instead of door service.

It appears unlikely, despite the protests of the many cities, that the Postal authorities are going to backdown from the policy that has been in effect on a nationwide basis since 1963.

Some cities have gone so far as to prohibit curbside mail boxes and residents of the area have been forced to travel to the post office for their mail.

But the Post Office Department so far has been adamant about its position and has mustered some pretty heavy ammunition to use in defense of the curbside delivery.

The basic objection that is used by most cities against curbside delivery is that the traditional rural-type mailbox has adverse effect on the aesthetic value of the property and the community.

Many of the cities, including Campbell, have used this particular argument in appealing to Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, who, more or less, heads the nation's committee on beautification.

Postal authorities answer this argument by stressing that contrary to the prevalent misconception, the traditional rural-type mailbox is not required in curbside delivery areas.

The postal people have approved suburban boxes of contemporary design or any mail receptacle which is conviently located at the curb and affords adequate protection for the mail.

The postal people bolster their stand with illustrations showing a selection of attractive functional mail receptacles suitable for use, that are available at various retail stores. Admittedly, these new boxes that are pictured are attractive and a far cry from the old rural box.

From where we sit watching the struggle, we think the Post Office Department appears to be in the stronger position at the present time than the cities.

It is entirely conceivable that some sort of compromise may be devised that could possibly satisfy both sides. We should imagine that the biggest stumbling block will be in enforcing the type of box that a resident can place at the curbline.

Our guess is that legislation, both at the federal and city level, may have to be enacted to get any kind of uniformity.

We maintain, however, that the Post Office Department's really strong point is simply that of the cost factor involved.

Postal authorities have taken great pains to explain how much it would cost to provide door service in lieu of curb delivery.

According to the department, there currently are seven million homes that receive delivery of mail via curbside boxes. Of this seven million, nearly three and one third million qualify for door service under the policy that was in effect before 1963.

The estimated cost of converting this group into door service is $42.9 million annually. Authorities add that the budget of the fiscal year does not contain any funds for the conversion of these curbside boxes to door service.

The department explains that the curbside plan that was put into effect in 1963 stipulated that city delivery service would go on a curbside basis wherever practicable.

It has been "practicable", postal officials point out, to extend this service as well as establish new services at offices not previously qualified because of their failure to meet statutory and postal regulation requirements.

There have been no conversions from curbside delivery to door service since the policy was put into effect.

It is maintained by postal officials that the curbside policy was necessary to control and contain delivery and service costs within reasonable limits in order for the dpeartment to meet the constantly increasing need for this service to rapidly developing areas throughout the country.

The department reports that 1.5 million stops per year are added annually to the city delivery service and that "sound fiscal practices dictate that the most judicious use possible be made of available resources so as to provide adequate service to all qualified areas, while at the same time restricting the expenditure of funds to the lowest level obtainable".

As one who shudders at the deficit the Post Office Department shows each year, we must admit that is is difficult to condemn the postal people for trying to operate efficiently and economically.

If this curbside policy permits the department, as the officials maintain, to meet the increasing demand for delivery service within reasonable cost limitations, maybe all of us, including the aesthetically-minded cities, had better learn to live with the idea.

For the record, however, we still vigorously object to those mangy-looking, odd-sized, rural-type mail boxes that have dotted the countryside for years. In our opinion those boxes have no place in any community in which residents take pride.

HOW TO CONTROL cats and their activities within the city limits of Campbell is now the subject of research on the part of City Attorney Joe Bonacina.

The city's legal beagle has been directed by the City Council to draft a city ordinance that allows city agencies (or the county health department acting for the city) to solve a messy problem that has existed in some areas in the city for many years.

Counselor Joe embarked into this realm of cat control somewhat reluctantly. You might even say he was boosted into it.

You really can't blame Joe.

He has long maintained that city legislation should not be used to regulate isolated cases. And he wanted to be sure the cat legislation was necessary before he tackled it.

-0-

WHEN IT WAS explained to him just what uncontrolled cats had done to a neighborhood on Maple Ave., Joe conceded that something should be done to put teeth into the city's cat code.

So he's working on it.

Of course Joe is involved now, along with Attorney Dick Morton, former Campbell mayor, in a much more complicated legal maneuver involving the proposed drive-in theator off Union Ave., so maybe the cats may have to wait their turn on his crowded calendar.

We recognize that legislating against cats, even in a limited way, will be upsetting to many people. Cats have been sort of untouchable for centuries dating back, we suppose to when they were revered as deities in Egypt.

Our city attorney has mentioned that he liked cats and owned several. But his case apparently is no different than in many other cities.

TAKE CORAL GABLES, Fla. as a for instance, apparently almost an exact parallel of Campbell, if one can believe the wire service stories.

And we quote from a recent news story with a Coral Gables dateline: "Now, at the order of City Council, City Atty. Edward Semple is drawing up a new ordinance. It will limit each dwelling to two cats.

"I don't want to tell you what I think about it," Semple said. "I don't want to make anyone mad. I just hope it holds up, that's all.

"I never heard of an ordinance like this before," he said, adding, "I like cats."

"The Council acted in wake of complaints that one resident of the Miami suburb was found to have 39 cats."

You see, Joe, you are in good company.

With or without cats, that is.

reccomendation the city would make.

Mrs. Connie Regas, owner of property on Rincon, said she felt that Rincon Ave. should be opened, or at least a northbound right-turn on-ramp be constructed.

Fred Chez, owner of property on Latimer, told the council that he did not think a pedestrian overpass was necessary at Latimer. He suggested that the city's case would be stronger, if every recommendation made could be defended to the fullest. He added that, at times, he had noticed that one could shoot a cannon down Latimer without hitting anyone.

Lowell Grattan, developer in the Hamilton area, emphasized the importance of the expressway to the now undeveloped area and what it would mean to the city's economy.

Present in the audience also was Supervisor Ralph Mehrkens who said that he was vitally concerned with the reaction of the city to the expressway program.

CITY STAFF

The presentation of the proposed expressway program and the staff's recommendation was made by Frank Lewis, on the city engineer's staff sitting in for Bill Wren on vacation.

Lewis explained that Campbell's share of the county bond money is based on a 70% of the revenue produced within the city limits from the assessed valuation Campbell would produce $2,171,000, which would mean that $1,520,000 would be 70% although the preposed Phase II program indicated that the cost of the improvements in Campbell would come to $2,400,000 for the interchange, landscaping and additional lanes.

Lewis projected a cost breakdown on the screen for the projects that had been suggested by the staff, excluding the cost of the additional two lanes.

This included: pedestrian overpasses, (Latimer and Rincon) $170,000 and the right turn-off-ramp at Rincon $38,000. The interchange at Hamilton was estimated at $1,200,000 and landscaping at $120,000.

In addition, the staff suggested that Hamilton, (from Bascom to Winchester); Winchester (from Latimer to the south city limits) and Bascom (from the creek to Campbell Ave.) could be improved under the expressway program at a cost of $542,000.

RINCON OPEN?

Mayor Ralph Doetsch wondered how much more it would cost to have a grade crossing at Rincon Ave. or to build Rincon over the expressway. He asked that this be checked out, as well as the possibility of a northbound right turn on-ramp.

Councilman Homer Hyde asked if the policy of distance between signals had been established and was informed that the policy was still open for Phase II but under Phase I it had been set at 2600-feet.

Faced with all the possible recommendations, plus others that might be presented at the public hearing on Wednesday, Sept. 7, council members were skeptical that the city's recommendation could be submitted by Sept. 14. But they indicated, they would give it a try.

Bids, zoning, tax rate, personnel feature City Council session

Although the highlight of Monday's City Council meeting was the informal hearing on the Phase II program of the countywide expressway system, the City Council touched a number of other legislative bases that had an important bearing on the city's operation.

At the lengthy meeting, the council:

--DENIED the request of plumbing and heating contractors of San Mateo and Santa Clara counties to send a city representative to the convention of Western Plumbing Officials Association in Hawaii in October. The association through C. W. Stinnet, executive manager, offered to pay $200 of the expenses.

Robert Wallace of Winchester Plumbing Campbell, in a letter urged the council to modify the city's policy of not sending a department head out of state in this instance.

--AWARDED to the low (and one and only) bidder, Russell, Inc. of Santa Clara, the contract for a 3-5 ton roller for $4998.40.

--SET the tax rate of 50 cents on land only for the Campbell Lighting District now under city jurisdiction but directed staff to change the base to land and improvements next year.

--ADOPTED an urgency ordinance applying to lands being annexed to the city so to keep these lands from being unzoned when they come into the city.

--ADOPTED annexation ordinance for annexation San Tomas 1966-4 in the Walters-Harriet-Hacienda area.

--ADOPTED the necessary resolutions to complete the establishment of LID No. 11 (Michael Dr.-Bascom-Campbell-Union area). Under the resolutions the city agreed to advance money for a revolving fund to be paid back by reimbursements when area is developed.

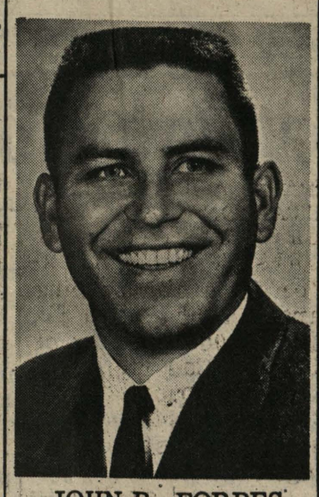
--RESCINDED a previous action relating to acquiring the Neff property on Central Ave. for the extention of Latimer Ave. A study had indicated that only 10 to 15 feet would be needed of the Neff property because a more practical route for the extension would be on property north of the Neff parcel.

--APPROVED in executive session the recommendation of City Manager Bob Stephens that Wallace Byron, senior building inspector, succeed Bud Morser, building official, whose resignation is effective Sept. 1.

Stephens said he hoped that temporarily the two-man building department (Jerry Duncan and Byron) could handle the work.

--APPROVED plans and specifications for a street maintenance contract to be let on Sept. 12. Councilman Charles Rose maintained that it was getting too late in the season for an effective sealing job and opposed the letting of the contract.

Pacific Telephone installer earns award for rescue role



JOHN B. FORBES
--receives award

John B. Forbes, Pacific Telephone PBX installer, was honored this week for his role in the rescue of a 16-year-old girl one year ago.

Forbes, of 253 Friar Way, Campbell, received the National Safety Council president's medal and certificate, Pacific Telephone certificate of honor and the American Red Cross certificate of merit.

The presentation was made at a noon luncheon at the telephone company work center in San Jose.

Forbes, 32, was credited with saving the life of 16-year-old Ceil Williams after she was thrown from a bucking horse near the Santa Teresa golf course on Aug. 27, 1965. Miss Williams fell at the edge of a concrete-lined drainage canal and rolled down into six inches of water.

She was unconscious and not breathing when Forbes reacher her. He plucked the girl from the water and began immediate mouth-to-mouth resuscitation. She began breathing in a few moments and regained consciousness a half hour later.

Forbes, who had been playing golf with two other PBX installers, Joseph Gerarge and Richard Johnson, was assisted by the other men in the rescue.

Presentation of the various awards was made by Carl W. Stubenrauch, Pacific Telephone general manager for the Central Counties area.

Alegebra 1M is beckoning 1,392 boys and girls and plane geometry, 1,313. Sophomore science must be pretty hip or hep because 3,020 district students are to be in these classrooms and 1,188 in biology, textbook kind.

Business students are fairly well distributed in 15 different courses, but Typing I is getting the lion's share, 1,438. There are over 500 each in business training and record keeping.

Spanish I is the most popular language course, followed closely, of course, by Spanish II. Together they claim 1,599 of the would-be linguists. French and German aren't too far behind, but Latin 1, 2, and 3 have a total of 455 students and Latin 4 has 13.

Mechanical drawing leads the industrial arts courses with 636 enrolled, while next in demand are general metals I (522) and wood lab I (485).

A good part of the potential homemakers (620) will be in the beginners' class while 545 will be in homemaking 2C and 470 in 2F. The art departments will find a total of 601 in Art I and 505 in arts and crafts.

Graduation exercises were held at Hamilton and San Tomas Schools on Friday for 37 children between the ages of 4 and 5 who have completed an 8-weeks pre-school Head Start Program sponsored by the Economic Opportunity Commission.

According to Miss Elena Rodriguez, Social Service Aide, the children are from low income families, who have benefited greatly from the program. The teachers, all volunteers, helped the youngsters with language problems, showed them the use of school tools.

Santa Clara County Fair, which opened last Friday, and will close on Sunday, Aug. 28, is almost certain to set an attendance record this year.

The fair this year, the 22nd annual event, will run for 10 days. It is also a month earlier than usual and this does not interfere with the routine of the school kids.

Fair officials this week announced that due to public demand, the fair is opening at 12 noon on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday instead of 2 p.m. Opening time this Saturday and Sunday will be 10 a.m.

According to fair visitors, the fruits, nuts and vegetables on display in exposition hall make up the finest diversified horticulture exhibit in the world.

Another 'Kid's Day' is scheduled for this Friday. A variety of games and activities have been planned by the youngsters and two bicycles will be awarded as prizes.

Harness racing is again a big feature of the fair.

Free entertainment from today through Sunday will be offered by the Hoosier Hotshots backed up by the Niccilini Chimps, and Ford and Williams comedy team.

Destruction Derby will be held on Sunday, at 3 p.m. when 60 cars will be smashed together until just one remains runing.

SJS enrollment tops 5000 in summer classes

Combined enrollments for the major summer sessions at San Jose State College reached 12,101 this week, according to Dr. Leo P. Kibby, dean of summer sessions.

Currently into its four-week session, scheduled to end Sept. 2, the summer program opened with two intersession weeks June 13. The major six-week session ended Aug. 5.

The four-week session enrolls 2421 students. The remaining 9608 enrolled in the intersession workshops and the regular six-week session.

In addition to the regularly scheduled classes and workshops, the college is also conducting special institutes funded by the National Science Foundation. The Peace Corps also is training teaching assistants for service in the Philippines.

Classes are also held at Hartnell College in Salinas and the Moss Landing Marine Laboratories on Monterey Bay.

Self-supporting, the summer sessions programs charge a fee of $18.50 per unit of credit to all students. More than 500 classes are offered during the summer.

West Valley College offers restaurant management course

West Valley College, will offer this Fall the first course in "Restaurant Management" given in the area from San Francisco to Monterey.

Cooperating in the program are some of the leading restaurant-teurs in the area formed into an advisory committee, and headed by Hal Bohannon of Bohannon's Restaurant and Stan Veltman of the Cable Car Caterers.

Included will be a basic two-year program leading to the Associate in Arts degree, providing either for continued education in such restaurant and hotel management courses as those offered at Cornell University, Michigan State, Denver University and the University of Florida, among others.

The course will include instruction in the cooking of basic foods, then into quantity food cooking, advanced quantity food cooking, baking, personnel management as related to the restaurant management field, accounting as related to the food industry.

Named to head the program is Thomas A. Devins, 47, coordinator of the college's Restaurant Management Program.

THOMAS DEVINS

Devins is a retired lieutenant commander in the United States Navy, where he served for 23 years, specializing in Food Service Administration.

The Navy sent him to Cornell University for a two-year inservice program.

He retired from the Navy and in 1962 came to San Jose State where he received his M. Sc. in industrial management and then went on to UCLA for work on his Ph.D. in management theory.

Since then he has served as associate professor of Food Service Administration at the State University of New York, at Canton, N. Y. His most recent position has been Food Service Director at the Touro Hospital in New Orleans, La.

"There are unlimited job opportunities in this field for those prepared to fill these positions," Devins said. "There is a shortage of assistant managers, which is extremely acute, and, of course, today's assistant managers are the future leaders of the food service industry.

"There is likewise a shortage of good cooks, both men and women," he added, pointing out that one of the mainstays of the course involves good nutrition instruction, preparation of balanced diets.

"There is a great demand for trained skilled persons in the hotel and restaurant fields, which," he said.

Interested applicants, including those who do not specifically live in the West Valley Junior College District, can get more information on enrolling in this course in the Admissions and Records Office, (Room A-26) at the college, or meet Devins directly in Room A-22.

ON CAPITOL HILL

with "Charlie" Gubser

The thousands of sincere Americans who honestly oppose President Johnson's policy in Vietnam were not helped by the events of last week in Washington.

Representatives of various Bay Area "peace" organizations and particularly the architects of Berkeley's Vietnam Day Committee were the principal witnesses before the House Un-American Activities Committee.

Their compulsion to resort to the ridiculous gained national headlines which associated them with the cause of peace. Unfortunately, they are not the type who command respect and do not reflect credit upon those who are sincerely working for peace.

One bearded leader of the Vietnam Day Committee appeared in a colonial costume symbolizing the fact that he was a "modern revolutionary". Of course, this insured plenty of television coverage for him and numerous opportunities to condemn the Un-American Activities Committee, praise the Viet Cong, and lambast U. S. policy.

Whenever a Communist and U. S. position are in conflict such persons seldom do otherwise than defend the Communists while condemning the United States.

Since they are usually found where there is agitation, demonstration, and trouble one must suspect that their true motivation is not to oppose our Vietnam policy, promote civil rights, improve academic freedom, etc., but to agitate and create trouble.

Their responses to various situations are so immediate and universal that they must be planned. For example: Shortly before noon on Aug. 17 one lawyer representing some of the witnesses provoked an incident which caused him to be physically removed from the hearing room.

In sympathy the other lawyers in the room rose en masse and left. Then each witness methodically stated that he had been deprived of counsel by the action of the Committee and, therefore, refused to testify. One witness with a prepared mimeographed statement chose to go on without his attorney.

This raised the interesting question of how he could mimeograph a statement in advance saying that he was deprived of his attorney when at the time it was mimeographed this could not have been the case. One member of the Committee quipped that he must own a "fast mimeograph machine".

Many of the same unshaven individuals were seen in the hearing room a few years ago as members of a group which defied the State Department, travelled to Cuba, and used their experience to condemn U. S. policy and praise Castro.

Some of them were involved in Berkeley's infamous Free Speech Movement, others in the San Francisco City Hall riots against the Un-American Activities Committee. Any fair minded person who saw them would agree that they are hardly representative of straight thinking Americans. Yet for a few days at least, they occupied "front and center" in the peace movement.

The thousands of sincerely motivitated citizens who are honestly channeling their efforts to promote peace are not being helped by these professional exhibitionists. It would seem wise for them to avoid the smooth and well trained agitators who, in the final analysis, are more interested in trouble than in peace.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Questions and Answers

Q. I'll be 60 in December. My husband died two years ago and I received a lump-sum death payment. Is it true that I can now apply for monthly social security widows benefits in December?

A. Yes, a recent change in the social security law permits you to apply for reduced monthly benefits as early as 60.

Q. I have been married twice. The first marriage ended when my husband died and the second marriage was ended by divorce. The first marriage lasted 21 years and the second 23 years. I heard I may be eligible for benefits under the new social security law. Is this true?

A. You may be eligible for benefits on the record of your divorced husband. You will have to establish that certain support requirements were met. Check with your social security office for further details. Of course, you can receive benefits only if your second husband is eligible for benefits.

Q. What change has been made in the social security disability program by the Social Security Amendments of 1965?

A. Under the old law Disability benefits could be paid only to people whose impairment was permanent -- expected to last for a long and indefinite time or to result in death. Under the new law, benefits can be paid to a person whose impairment has lasted or is expected to last 12 calendar months.

Q. Does the disability still have to have lasted for six months before benefits can be paid?

A. Yes. The 1965 amendments did not change this. The worker's first check will be issued for the 7th month of disability. However, the disabled worker should check with his social security office during the 6-month period.

Three summer brides say their "I do's" at church nuptials

MRS. JAMES RICHARD MANGUS

The wedding of Lynette Hiatt and James Mangus was solemnized at Trinity Episcopal Church in San Jose last month, in the same church in which the bride's parents repeated their vows in 1938. Rev. Kenneth Schildt officiated at the 11 a.m. double ring ceremony.

Lynette is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs Thomas Hiatt of 906 Dry Creek Road, Campbell The attractive blonde bride chose a white lace suit for her wedding day, with a short face veil secured with a satin crown. She carried a bouquet of white carnations centered with an orchid.

A high school friend, Candy Lindman, served as maid of honor. Her frock of pink voile and lace was accented with a bouquet of pink carnations. Loralee Hiatt, sister of the bride, was the bridesmaid, and she was attired in blue voile and carried blue tinted carnations.

John Tripoli stood with the bridegroom as best man and ushering duties were performed by Tom Laederich and Arnold Durrer.

Pink carnations decorated the church parish hall where the young couple greeted their guests at a small reception. A beautiful three-tiered wedding cake was the center of the bride's table

The newlyweds chose the Yosemite area for their wedding trip, and will make their future home in San Jose following the groom's tour of duty with the U.S. Army.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Mangus of 897 Genevieve, San Jose. He is a graduate of Del Mar High School and San Jose City College and is stationed in Missouri with the U.S. Army. Lynette is a 1965 graduate of Del Mar High School and attended West Valley College. She is the granddaughter of Clarence Parkerson of San Jose, who was an honored guest at the wedding.

JANET FAIR

The first Methodist Church of Campbell was the setting for the wedding of Miss Janet Fair and Alvin David Faris earlier this month. The Rev. William H. Gould was the officiating clergyman at the double ring ceremony.

Janet was lovely in a gown of silk organza styled with scooped neckline, fitted bodice and A-line skirt with a Chapel length train trimmed with Alencon lace.

For something old, she wore a dainty heart-shaped locket which belonged to her maternal grandmother. Her illusion veil was held in place with an Alencon lace cap and she carried a white Bible, accented with white glads and stephonotis.

A long time friend, Mrs. Stephen Retke (Elizabeth Rice) was the matron of honor. Mrs. Jerry Miller (Joan Shirley) and Mrs. Boyd Fair Jr. served as bridesmaids. All three were dressed alike in floor length pale green faille gowns, and carried cascades of yellow gladioli. Lorin Hunter served as best man and ushering were Alan Boone and Michael Lathrop.

Approximately 150 guests attended the wedding reception held in the Chruch Fellowship Hall and adjoining garden.

Following a wedding trip to northern California, the newlyweds will make their home in San Jose.

A kindergarten teacher at Sherman Oaks School, the new Mrs. Faris is a graduate of Campbell High School and San Jose State College. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd C. Fair Sr., of 12 S. Jane Way, Campbell. She was affiliated with Job's Daughters, Bethel 174, Campbell.

David is the son of Mrs. Beatrice Faris of 3027 David Ave., San Jose. A graduate of Oregon schools he attends Foothill College and is employed by Burbank Press.

MRS. JOHN WROBLEWSKI

The nation's capitol will be the future home of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Wroblewski who said their vows at Valley Neighborhood Church this month. The bride is the former Jill Arline Salmi, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl H. Salmi of 14899 Acton Drive, San Jose. A Camden High School graduate, she has many friends in the West Valley area.

The bride was lovely in formal gown featuring a bodice of embroidered eyelet and an A-line linen skirt. Shoulder bows accented the kabuki sleeves and a floral headband held her single-tier full length veil. Her bouquet was a cascade of gardenias.

Miss Darrellyn Swagerty, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. Carol Nyberg, and Deborah Wroblewski, sister of the bridegroom, completed the bride's attendants. They wore matching gowns of blue and olive green styled with Empire waistlines and carried clusters of blue pompom mums. Daniel Kaiser of Pennsylvania was best man and ushering were Robb Hasencamp, Joel Salmi, the bride's brother, and David Salzman, Miss Carol Wright of Lafayette was the soloist.

Approximately 200 guests attended the reception that followed in the church gardens. A five-tiered wedding cake decorated with giant artificial flowers was cut by the happy couple.

After spending a few days in Carmel the newlyweds drove to Washington, D.C. where they will make their home while they both finish their education at Howard University.

John is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence P. Wroblewski of Detroit, Michigan. A graduate of Wheaton College in Illinois he will attend the graduate school of literature at Howard University.

LILLIAN WOLFINGTON was a first place winner in the Home Economic Clothing and Textiles division. . . FERN KALLAND's preserved foods took first place at the fair. . .

PAUL BUSH's begonia plants, DIANE ROHDE's succulents, BERT MUELLER's planter, EDDIE FILER's ivy plant and FERNE N. RIGGS floral display all were first place winners. . .

WHAT DOES IT COST THESE DAYS TO PUT ON A WEDDING? FRED SMITH, local photographer who has added wedding arrangements to his services, has this to report. An average wedding, for approximately 75 guests, runs in the neighborhood of $450.

This includes a three tiered wedding cake, champagne, nuts and mints, coffee and punch, all served on the traditional China, for $200. Flowers for the bridal party and the church average $75. Pictures in a wedding album usually run about $125.

Outside expenses can vary. If you rent a hall, the cost goes up. Music can add a lot to the romantic atmosphere, but costs another $50 to $75. The average bride spends $100 for her gown and $40 for her veil.

Her luggage and trousseau are also items to take into account. Gifts for the bridal party, and a rehearsal dinner are also extra expenses. So when your daughter decides on a church wedding, nothing elaborate, just a wedding cake, some champagne, and a few guests. . . expect it to cost closer to $800 and you're getting off cheap. . .

PETER A. GIORGIANNI, 737 Rickey Ct. has been appointed chairman of the 1966 United Nations Day Committee in Campbell by Mayor Ralph Doetsch, who has declared Monday, Oct. 24, as UN Day in our city. . .

Heart check available at Goodwill again

HEART CHECK

A free check of your likelihood to have a heart attack--America's number one killer--is offered at the County Fair by the Santa Clara County Heart Association, the association's president, Dr. David H. Walworth announces.

This check of cholesterol and blood sugar in your bloodstream can help your doctor help you avoid heart attack.

Drawing the small amount of blood needed is easy, painless and takes less than half a minute in the skilled hands of volunteer technicians. After analysis by the San Jose City Health Department laboratories, the results are forwarded to your doctor.

This free check is available at the Heart Association's fair booth from 4 p.m. to 9 p.m. daily during the fair Aug. 19-28 at the county fairgrounds, San Jose.

Weekend visitors to the heart booth also will be offered free refreshments--low cholesterol potato chips and low calorie cola--at the booth from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 20-21 and 27-28, by Mrs. Pat Stephenson, the assocation's nutrition consultant.

Lark foundation sponsors informal tea

Volunteer teachers, and persons interested in the problems of illiteracy, are invited to an informal tea to be given by the Santa Clara County Chapter of the LARK Foundation on Thursday, Sept. 1. The Octagon Room at the Carl Leininger Community Center in Kelley Park, has been chosen for this occasion which will be held from 2-4 o'clock in the afternoon.

For the past six years, the LARK Foundation (Literacy and Related Knowledge) has had a successful record of helping hundreds of educationally deprived American and foreign born adults to learn to read and write and solve arithmetic problems.

Anyone interested in helping in this volunteer service is welcome to come to this tea. It is not necessary to have a teacher's certificate to qualify as a volunteer teacher or teacher's assistant.

If there are any questions, please call Mrs. Raymond Schmidt Jr., 269-1799.

RECREATION

County Fair sponsors doll dressing contest

Eager ladies from the Santa Clara County area are coming in increasing numbers to the Goodwill Vocational Service Center, 46 Race St., San Jose to pick up dolls and design original clothes for them.

The women of Santa Clara County Pomona Grange No. 4 will again sponsor the "Goodwill Doll-O-Rama 1966", a doll show and tea which will be open to the public free at Trinity Episcopal Church, 81 N. Second St., San Jose, in mid-November.

Repaired and reconditioned by handicapped trainees in the Goodwill program, the dolls are waiting to be dressed by individuals or organizations who wish to aid the vocationally handicapped and at the same time enjoy dressing dolls.

The dolls will be judged by a panel of community leaders, awarded appropriate ribbons, and sold to the public. Proceeds benefit the organization's vocational rehabilitation program for the handicapped.

Dolls may be picked up at the Goodwill Vocational Service Center between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., Mondays through Fridays. Deadline for return of dressed dolls is Nov. 7 in order that they may be priced and prepared for the judging and display, Nov. 19 and Nov. 20.

Westhills Club sponsors ride

A train ride for youngsters will be presented by the Westhills Service Club next Sunday, Aug. 28, when Billy Jones' Wildcat Railroad will roll from noon until 5 p.m.

Contributions received will be used by the Club for their current local service projects. Cold drinks and popcorn will be sold to the young riders at the station. This small scale railroad at the corner of Daves and Santa Cruz Ave., in Los Gatos, has been an attraction in the area for many years. Children will be supervised by club members.

QUIZ: What's Red and White and good for all your back-to-school shopping?

Your First National Credit Card is Supercard. It's good at thousands of local stores. You can use it to buy your kids everything from kicky clothes to loose-leaf binders... and take months to pay for it all. It's the smart way to put them back in school without putting yourself in the poorhouse. If you have a Supercard, go to the head of the class. If you don't have one, go to your nearest First National office. We'll take care of that.

Notes written by Mrs. Knowles while abroad

Came back to ship for lunch at 1. There were no buses. All tours were in taxis - ours was a tan cadillac convertible! The streets in many places were very narrow with some sharp turns. Could barely make it at times. There were two young married couples in my cab - very pleasant. Not from our ship. Boys in service in Jacksonville.

May 4, 1966

Landed in Port Everglades at 7 a.m. - a short distance from Ft. Lauderdale. Weather today is very good - hot in sun, but cool refreshing breeze, couple of very light quick showers as we drove about 200 miles. At 7 a.m. we had to go through U. S. inspection - passports, vaccination and cabins inspected for fruit. All fruit had to be removed from cabins the night before.

Our potted plants got by O. K. though.

I went to Everglades National Park - one of the very few left I had not seen. It was a shambles - complete desolation in many places - the results of recent hurracanes, especially Betsy last year. Looked as if a forest fire had hit it leaving only skeletons. Some places escaped. We saw the largest hemlock in U. S., some lakes and waterways and exhibits and stories of plants and animals of the area.

Went back to Miami and took a little motor coach-train through 85 acres of gardens, specimens mostly of trees (some flowers) from all over the world. Then a tour of Ft. L. to see beaches, endless canals, condominiums, high-rise apartments and hotels. A very prosperous and expensive town, quite attractive.

Watched our ship pull out at 6. Apparently a couple (visitors) had been having too much "party" and failed to get off via the gang plank! The pilot launch had to come out and get them off by aerial means and take them ashore! Bet that will cost them a pretty penny.

May 7, 1966

Saw interesting film on Scotland and Hebrides. My cabin looked like a Chinese laundry. Packed the two suit cases that have to be stored on board till I return from Europe.

CHAPTER III
(Nearing English Channel)

May 10, 1966

Tomorrow evening we leave the ship for Gay Paree. Two suit cases have been packed two days, ready for ship's storage while we are in Europe. Today the third one is practically finished. My passport has been turned in for French inspection - to be picked up tomorrow. Customs declaration filled out. That was easy because I haven't bought anything! I'm ready to go!

Overcast all day - a bit foggy late afternoon and our first real rain in evening. An interesting item - I had written six cards and bought a set of stamps for each and also some letters and stamps. Sqeezed into a tight corner to put stamps on, and mailed everything there at P. O.

Next day I discovered one set of card stamps in purse! This meant one card didn't get stamped. I went to P. O. to see if it could be recovered (they are not to be mailed till we reach France). He said, "Don't worry about it at all. We take care of all such oversights or overweights. The ship allows us two pounds (near $6) per week to cover this." Isn't that something! I offered him the stamps, but he refused! So I hope all get their cards and letters O.K.

Well, today's the day. I'll walk down the streets of Paris with an "aboard ship roll." That's not edible - but a kind of walk. Am waiting now for steward to get last suit case. This goes on boat train Le Havre to Paris (a 3-hr. ride) with me.

Supper will be served on the train. We have to line up again to get passports, then again for customs inspection. At noon I will give my pretty azalea bush I got from Selma to my seat mate at table. She lives in England and is glad to get it.

Thought you might be interested in a few things about ship: gross tonnage - 45,270 lbs., length - 820 ft., 1st class - 548 passengers, tourist - 1690 passengers, crew - 960, maiden voyage - 1961.

A great variety of entertainment has been provided - travelogues on film, colored slides, movies, talks (lectures), tournaments in various card games, in scrabble and chess; also swimming and deck games, tournaments. The food has been excellent, varied and too much. We've had delicious filet steaks offered at least once a day for either "lunch" or dinner; ice cream as well as other deserts twice a day.

Breakfast is juice, fruit, many kinds of cereal, eggs any way, fish or meat, toast, jam and honey, rolls. Anything or all - as much as anyone wants. The service has been very good. I've heard many people complain and grumble about anything and everything. But I have nothing to fuss about.

I'm now up in the Fawcett Room. Everyone is milling around restlessly. Practically all will get off at Le Havre - many just to visit for a few hours.

Did I tell you our waiter reminds me very much of Clark Gable? He has the same smile and mustache, and features very similar. Ladies agreed with me. He's a little darker - not much. Most of waiters and cabin stewards are Goanese (part of or near India). The hard workers are Pakistani. They all wear blue baggy pants and red turbans. "Lift" boys are young British.

Hear we've had a market "crash" in U.S. That's another feature of ship's daily paper. Gives brief summary of world news as well as ship's news.

We are now in English Channel and a light house has been sighted. Pilot comes on board when we get near pier in a couple of hours.

Arrived at Le Havre 3 p.m. Hotel broke contract and overbooked. Ten rooms out of 19 promised with bath had none. We had to go down the hall to a "W. C." (water closet) which served men and women! Baggage arrived in our rooms at midnight - though it was in our compartment and train arrived at 9 p.m. One lady didn't get her suit case until today - two days after arrival! It came to hotel, got another label stuck on it by accident and went off somewhere.

two hits in the seven innings he was on the mound.

LONG GRIND

In the long grind to the final championship, West Valley compiled a 18-3 record.

In the world series play, West Valley was undefeated in three games played.

Behind the pitching of Rich Troedson, West Valley defeated Hagerston, Md., 5-4 in the opener. Three of the Maryland team's runs came in the sixth when two errors were made. Troedson struck out 11, including the first five he faced and allowed six hits.

West Valley's second win over El Paso 4-1 in a game that had been continued from the second inning because of rain the night before.

In the El Paso game, West Valley scored all its runs in the second inning when singles by Takaha and Gasper combined with some walks and errors accounted the four scores.

Bill Butler took over the pitching duties in the first inning and got the win after Ed Creech, who started, was hurt.

Moreland Little League wins tournament crown

Moreland Little League all-stars, managed by Jack Mathews, defeated Santa Clara El Camino last week to win the District 44 Tournament of Champions.

In 1962, the Moreland Little League all-stars were world champions.

Moreland won by a 9-3 count behind the pitching of Rick McCall who marked up his third tournament victory. He only allowed two hits in each game. In the three tournament games McCall struck out 40.

The championship game climaxed a long season of Little League baseball in District 44. Campbell won the district crown only to lose out in division play (the second to the last stop before the world series) to Airport Sacramento by a heartbreaking 2-1 score.

Airport, Sacramento went on to win the regional crown and is playing in the world series in Williamsport, Pa.

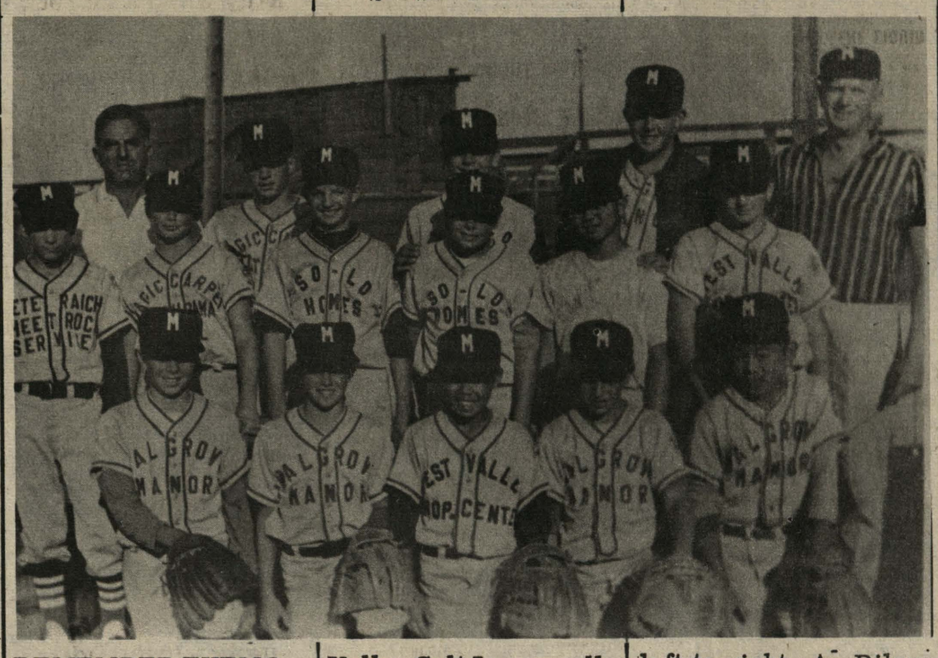
The fourth annual Tournament of Champions, which was won by Moreland, was limited to the championship teams from the 16-league District 44 structure.

In addition to McCall's stellar pitching, the hitting of Greg Bravo, who smashed two homers in the third and deciding test played on Moreland's playing field. His homers came in the first and third frames. He also had a single and drove in three runs.

During 13 times at bat in the tourney, Bravo hit safely on 10 trips, three of which were homeruns, one a triple and he collected four doubles.

To reach the championship series, Moreland defeated a strong West Valley team with McCall pitching 5-2 and the Quito League champions 8-1. Bravo was on the mound in this battle and allowed only two hits.

However, in the second tourney game, Moreland was overpowered by Gary Rankin of Santa Clara El Camino, who only allowed two hits. El Camino won 3-0.



REMEMBER THEM?--Here is the Moreland Little League all-star aggregation that won the Little League world series in Williamsport Pa. in 1962. Two of the members of the team, Milt Murata and Vaughn Takaha, were regulars on the West Valley Colt League all-stars team that won the Colt League world series in Shawnee, Okla., last Sunday.

Moreland Little League all-stars last week won the District 44 Tournament of Champions by defeating Santa Clara El Camino.

New Books at the Campbell Library

THE THEOLOGIAN, a novel by William Harrison

Randle Fast, the central figure in this audacious novel, is a theological student working toward his doctorate. Discontent with dormitory life at the seminary leads him to take a room at the house of Professor Rummell. From then on, the novel becomes more fascinating and more bizarre as Randle becomes fascinated with the supernatural, and also with Professor Rummell's wife..

THE QUEST, a report on extraterrestrial life by Tom Allen

This is not "escape reading" or "whimsical speculation". This is significant, solid reporting, on a subject fresh as tomorrow's headlines.

In a thoroughly documented report, the author tells what the scientists know, and what they hope to know in the future. By understanding the vastness of life on Earth, the author believes, we can better appreciate the probability of life's existence elsewhere in the universe.

BAY OF TRAITORS, a novel by Garland Roark

A doctor falsely outcast at home finds romance, intrigue and self-discovery in the South Seas. A suspenseful, adventure-filled novel of the sea. Garland Roark is a native Texan who writes from a colorful store of experience. In 1946 his first novel, Wake of a Red Witch, became a Literary Guild selection and the basis of a motion picture.

DAVID SARNOFF, a biography by Eugene Lyons

The extraordinary story of an immigrant boy who became an industrial giant. As head of RCA and pioneer in electronics and communications, he has probably affected our daily lives more than anyone since Edison. Few men in our times have started with so many handicaps and risen so fast to the top in their chosen fields.

Even if you aren't planning a trip to the exotic Orient, this book written by a professional traveler will fascinate you. Olson will captivate your attention as he introduces the wonders of the Far East in the same accurate, unbiased, vital and authentic manner that made his best selling European guidebook ABOARD and ABROAD the by-word of knowledgeable travelers the world over.
